SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

—German experiments have shown that certain plants contain nearly as much as certain other plants in very hot, arid, and even in the most arid soil, a degree as to be valuable as supporters.

—Cherry trees are an indication from the traces of their name, and occurs in many places. With water, it is a decided success on a small scale. It forms a thick mulch, and is not used commercially.

—Electricity on railroads will surely not be long in coming. We are at the very beginning of things, and we have to see. The New York street car lines are experimenting with a promise of immediate action. The "Jules Verne" system, at present, meets with most favor. In Europe electric lines are a decided success on a small scale.

—An important announcement to chemists is the recent synthesis of glucose, or grape-sugar, by Drs. Fischer and Tafel, at the University of Wurzburg. A remarkable attribute of this glucose is that, unlike other sugars of the same composition, it will not rotate a beam of polarized light.

—Since the first appearance of the great spot on the planet Jupiter some nine years ago, Mr. W. F. Denning, the well-known English astronomer, has made about three hundred observations of the phenomenon. It seems the red spot to be a feature of Jupiter's atmosphere, and not of the surface of the planet.

—It still seems to be an unsettled question whether wood can be ignited by the heat of steam pipe in contact with it. It is admitted, theoretically, that it is impossible for wood to take fire at a temperature of 212 degrees, or somewhat higher, but it is well known that there have been a large number of cases of fire reported as occurring from this cause, and the evidence is conflicting.

—According to Bissier, leprosy is spreading rapidly. Since the extension of the French colonial possessions, soldiers, sailors, traders and missionaries have fallen victims to it in large numbers. Bissier, therefore, exhorts physicians in all countries to study the disease in its origin, and in its active phases of infection in every part of the globe.

—An electrical heating stove, invented in France, presents some interesting points of arrangement and principle. In it the conducting wires are led through apertures in plates of refractory clay and plumbago, and in which wire bobbins are placed as part of the electric circuit. To carry out this plan the bobbins are heated by the passage of the current, and in turn heat the air, which is allowed to pass freely through the apparatus.

—Scientists are asked to tell why land that has been densely shaded, or protected from the sun by piles of lumber, brick, wool, stone or any thing else, for a few years, always becomes richer than adjacent land that has not been thus shaded or protected. It is alleged that a great number of facts have been collected showing that there is no doubt of the enrichment of land thus protected from the sun for any considerable period of time, but that no explanation of the phenomenon has yet been reached.

MET HIS MATCH.

A Book-Agent, Inspector at Railroad Office and a Student.

A choler, shabbily dressed man with a long, black, bushy hair, entered his room in the office through which railroad tickets at the Union Depot at Louisville were sold.

"What can I do for you?" asked Pete Lawless, the ticket agent, as he looked at the man with a cold stare.

"How much does a ticket to Dallas cost?"

"Seven dollars and fifty cents."

"Well, I've got all but the seven dollars."

"That's how it goes," said Pete Lawless, the ticket agent, as he looked at the man with a cold stare.

"Look here, my friend, I'm a book-agent, and I got roped into a little game of poker and want to get out of town. Now, if I stay here I'll have to drink, and I'm a terror. I've talked lots of people into the lunatic asylum. You don't want me to talk you silly, do you?"

"Suppose you try."

"In the interest of the people of America, I want to help me leave this town. My staying here a week will retard its growth ten years."

"So you are really a book-agent. What book are you selling?"

"A galvanized snail, spread over the man's face, like a half of butter on a hot butter cake, and in a singing voice he remarked:

"I am offering the public, in seven volumes, 'Dr. Ruff's Observations on the Human Body,' a book that should be in every school, and that not only contains the views of the learned savant on what he did not see, but also contains a complete library of day research, pure theory, and classic language. I am not selling this incomparable encyclopedia, but am giving it away at a ridiculously low figure."

The agent paused. He expected that the ticket agent would be bored, but he was not. On the contrary, he seemed to be amused and pleased.

"Hark! my better give me a ticket, instead of having me talk you to death."

"Talk me to death! Why, man, alive, I like to hear it. Say that over."

"Say it over?" queried the bewildered book-agent.

"Yes! I was a book-agent myself, before I went into railroad business, and what you say is music to me. It calls back halcyon memories of the past, and makes me want to go on the road again. Why, man, alive, I could listen to you all day. I wouldn't have you leave this office for any thing. Come around every day, and we will swap experiences."

The book-agent closed his book with a bang, and faded away like a beautiful dream in the direction of a saloon where they set out free lunch. The last he met his match for once.—Texas Siftings.

Out of the Swim.

Young Mr. Waldo (of Boston)—Are you going into society very much this season, Miss Brown?

Miss Brown (of Chicago)—Very little, Mr. Waldo. My health is so far from robust that our family physician has ordered me against under excitement. An occasional five o'clock tea or divorce breakfast is the only social dissipation I indulge in.—N. Y. Sun.

ODD EXPRESSIONS.

An Amusing Collection of Verbal Torts and Blunders.

Curious ways of expressing ideas in English may be expected from foreigners, as, for instance, when the Frenchman, who paid a call in this country and was about to be introduced to a family, said: "Ah, ze ladies! Zen I would before, if you please, wish to purify mine hands and to sweep mine hair?"

But the various nationalities of the British Isles are sometimes not a whit behind in verbal blunders and blunders in what may generally be described as odd ways of putting things. It is said that when Constable's aunt was dying the good, dear old lady said: "Anno, if I should be spared to be taken away, I hope my nephew will get the doctor to open my head and see if any thing can be done for my hearing."

A Scotch publican was complaining of his servant-maid that she could never be found when required: "She'll gang out o' the house," said he, "twenty times for once she'll come in."

A Welsh head-dresser who for some time had been annoyed by an obstreperous guest, walked across the room to him and striking the table with his fist, shouted very volubly: "You haf kiek up a row all day ere tonight! We was here afore you, and you haf kiek us out of our own house!"

The beggar was verbally mixed who thus accused a passer-by: "Sir, would you please give me a little money to buy a bit of food? I am dreadfully thirsty that I don't know where I am to get a night's lodging?"

The same may be said of a country yokel who went to the menagerie to examine the wild beasts. Several gentlemen expressed the opinion that the orange-oung was a lower order of the human species. He did not like this idea, and striding up to the gentleman expressed his contempt for it in these words: "Well, he's no more of the human species than I am."

"Mamma, is that a spoiled child?" asked a little boy on seeing a negro baby for the first time.

An amusing announcement was issued by a son-outter from Leipzig: "They extract the virus direct from the latest pain. Out rashes, deformed vitreous in the flesh—by a new method without pain. They speak French, English, Italian, Spanish, Portuguese, Dutch and German, and will cure you of any disease."

Once a bridge in Georgia is the following: "Any person driving over this bridge in a pace faster than a walk shall, if a white man, be fined five dollars, and if a negro receive twenty-five lashes, half the penalty to be bestowed on the inferior or."

In a small town near Avignon the houses in the suburbs became flooded up to the level of the first floor. An enterprising resident distributed among his neighbors the following card: "Mr. Brochet, professor of swimming, is prepared to give lessons at the pupils' residence." The professor may be said to have taken fortune at the hand.

A shop exhibits a card warning every body against unscrupulous persons "who infringe our title to decide the public." We are afraid the shopman does not say quite what he means any more than the proprietor of a eating-house near the docks, on the door of which may be read the following

THE GREAT TARPON.

A Florida Sportsman Tells Something About the Fish of the South.

As a valuable tropical line of mail, and a valuable fish, the tarpon is well known. On one occasion my friend G. and a companion were rowing through Salt River (a tributary of the Homosassa) in a sixteen-foot White-hull boat. A tarpon was swimming in the grass, and being disturbed, made for deep water. Finding the water shallow and the boat in the way, he endeavored to clear it at an angle. The head of the fish came into contact with the side of G's companion, which deflected him from his course, and he passed under one of the boat seats. A pocket knife was used to settle his head, but it did not penetrate the ivory-like armor of the fish. Oars were used to dispart the prisoner, but it was found that if he were interfered with the boat would suffer from the rigorous blow of his head and tail. G. seated himself in the stern and his companion in the bow, and for the time the fish was awarded the post of honor unmolested. When peace was declared the gentleman took his oars, but the one who deflected the silver king in his course found that he could not "paddle his own canoe" for several of his ribs were fractured. G. rowed the boat to Jones' Landing, on the Homosassa, and the tarpon was weighed, tipping the scales at 153 pounds. The above statement is not in the least exaggerated.

Among other instances cited, one in which the captain of the Water Lily suffered is remarkable. The captain was seated on a chair in the center of the forward deck with his back to the pilot house on the steamer while en route from Jacksonville to Mayport. As the boat was passing the "John's bluff," a frisky tarpon leaped from the water, cleared the gunwale, and landed in the captain's lap. The captain was knocked over by the shock, but the fish was not injured, weighing sixty-eight pounds.

The capture of a tarpon with a hook and line is a difficult undertaking. Every summer many are hooked, but few are landed. "I have landed many on occasions," writes Dr. Kenworthy, "these fish seize my bait and run with lightning-like rapidity for twenty or a hundred yards, then leap into the air and shake their heads, like a terrier shaking a rat, and expel the bait. The colored gentry have learned by experience never to interfere with a tarpon while in his playful moods, for one of their number, while fishing in Trout creek, a few years ago, lost his finger through the jaws of a fish."

HELPS TO GOOD LIVING.

—Cheap Luxuries of Which the Majority of Farmers Derive Their Livelihood.

The bill of fare in most farm-houses might be greatly improved without incurring any additional expense. The great trouble with it is its uniformity. Not only are the same kinds of food served during several months in each year, but they are ordinarily cooked in the same manner. People living on farms become tired of kinds of food that rank as luxuries in large towns, and for which the country boarder manifests a strong liking. Because they have them in so great abundance. Among them are rich milk, fresh eggs, and home-made bread. People who live in farm-houses do not care for milk to drink, and eat but few eggs, while the baker's bread, the margarine, that is not at hand, is despised in cities. It is regarded as an article of luxury. In eating, as in almost everything else, people care little about the things they can have for the asking, but are very desirous to obtain articles that are not at hand. The dairy restaurant at which milk, cream, butter, and home-made bread are served is very popular in large towns, but it would receive no patronage in a country village. There would be no demand for butter-milk in a country saloon, though much is sold in city drinking-places.

On the whole, the living in cities is much better than in the country, chiefly for three reasons: There is a much better variety of food, more condiments and better cooking. It is practical for farmers to supply their tables with a much greater variety of food without any additional expense. Generally if I "eat" the best of food, I never have to live near a lake or river and have time to "go ashore." It is practical to have a fish pond on most farms, in which carp can be raised. It is no better sort of fish, but it is much better than none, and it can be raised at little cost, now that breeding stock is distributed by the Government. An occasional change from meat to fish is very desirable. It is also profitable of health and pleasure. Farmers should keep a few sheep if for no other purpose than affording mutton for home consumption. Mutton is the best fresh meat for farmers during warm weather, if it is kept longer than beef or pork. Farmers who raise turkeys, ducks and geese in addition to chickens can have as good a variety of fowls for the table as city people have.

Farmers generally have better green peas, potatoes, green peas and beans than city people do, for the reason that they can obtain them fresh from the garden and field. They do not, however, ordinarily have a large variety of garden vegetables, or those that are of good quality. The list is generally confined to beans, onions and cabbage. Lettuce, radishes, egg plants and cauliflower will be regarded as curiosities if seen in gardens in most parts of the country. Most farmers raise cucumbers and squashes, and sometimes the hays of the place are allowed to plant asparagus beds on the site of an old mill race or dig heap. No attempt is made to secure a large supply of these vegetables of several varieties. During the past fifteen years the quantity of asparagus has produced a considerable trade in living in cities. THE CLIMAX.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 4, 1888.

Dr. Thornton is seriously sick near Lexington.

Richmond now has the best gas in Kentucky.

The Richmond Telephone Company is re-organizing, and will put in Bell instruments.

Mr. Thro. Covington lost his brood mare Molly, by Wazey, valued at $300 on Friday last.

Capt. Billy Wilkinson, jailer of Fayette county, is slowly recovering from a dangerous illness.

Jack Collins says he is going to run for Mayor and "is going to get it with no defection."

Mrs. H. L. White and Miss Laura Shackelford were thrown from a phaeton on Monday, but not seriously hurt.

Dr. Lewis, Veterinary surgeon, of Wales Mills, was here Monday, and did a good business. He thinks of locating here.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Willis have rented the old Porter residence of C. D. Chennault on Main street and are now keeping house.

Storiff Deatherage, Samuel Biggerstaff, Everett Berry and T. J. Potts left yesterday with the twelve prisoners for the penitentiary.

There will be a special term of Circuit Court set for May the 1st with Judge J. R. Morton presiding to dispose of the chancery cases.

The Till family with their wonderful, musical rock under the auspices of the ladies of the M. E. Church, the 16th, are impatiently awaited.

Mr. John Donelson, the experienced carriage builder, is turning out excellent and stylish work. There is no need of going from home for good work.

Rev. W. E. Keller, of Lebanon, said incidentally in his sermon at the First Presbyterian church, this place, Sunday night, that the only way to get rid of iron-woods is to grub them up.

On last Monday about fifty emigrants landed at Ford from East and Lee counties. They took the K. C. Railroad, en-route to Montana, where they propose to establish a colony.

The first sunshine for a week, on Thursday evening, brought out the fair children and handsome matrons of Richmond in large numbers. And all nature rejoiced to see the sun once more.

John J. Connelley is before Judge Thomas J. Scott at Mt. Sterling on a writ of habeas corpus. The point made is that he is unlawfully detained because Equine Stole has heretofore so decided.

Mr. T. B. Ekin, of Garrard county, writes a friend here to send him some ship-stuff immediately, as he had a saw that had presented him with a litter of 18 pigs. Crackcod, trot out your Bourbon now.

The Messrs. Jare are building a neat cottage on their lot adjoining the Dr. McCreary lot, mentioned two weeks ago. Mr. Bush Wallace is erecting a pretty cottage on the East addition, and John Smith one on Hallie street.

Mr. C. Ripe, of Silver Creek, seriously burned his hand last week while cutting out his wife's dress, which had accidentally caught on fire. Mrs. Ripe was not burned. Two of Mr. Ripe's fingers were nearly burned off.

The flowers of the two early blooming chrysanthemums that have been so much talked of in the flower world, and the "white champion of the world" and the "flower of gold." Both will be freely advertised and for sale by florists of this city after May 1st.

Mr. S. C. Stanton, of Chicago, representing the St. Paul, Milwaukee & Northern Railroad, was here last week in the interest of his road. He tells us that more than fifty people have left this and Estill counties recently for homes in the North-west.

Judge Norton pronounced a sentence of one year in the penitentiary on a colored boy for getting money under false pretenses last Friday. The negro said "yes, sir," and when he got down, laughed as happily as if he had just heard the most joyful news.

Mr. C. J. Beagan, representing P. Carroll, seedman, of Lexington, was in Richmond on Monday, and sold two car loads of shelled oats, some clover seed and other things. He advertises in THE CLIMAX and has considerable trade over in this country.

The birds have "come" and "sang." The bluebirds have bloomed. The small boys have invested in five-cent fishing poles, and the bull-frog has found his rich sonorous voice in this spring melody. But, hark ye! Dearest April's smiles, they generally bring tears, or worse still—floods.

Mrs. L. E. Fraunce, who has returned from a visit to J. G. Selwicksford at Rockford, Illinois, is thoroughly satisfied that he is the son of God. His mother has lived a sinless life, and there are many other characteristics of the Savior. He is a patron of the Bateman, a religious sect of that country.

At the Sir Knights banquet in Mt. Sterling, on Tuesday last week, the following Sir Knights of the Richmond lodge answered toasts: Grand Commandery of Kentucky, response, Sam H. Stone; Christian Knighthood, by Dr. Kavanaugh; Richmond Commandery, by Judge T. J. Scott, and Joe Wages, Com. ex. Ballad, Brimston, Com. ex. Leslie & J. King, Com. ex. J. Hollingsworth. Sheriff Nathan Deatherage left yesterday with 12 prisoners for the penitentiary. Eleven were convicted this term of Court, and Bob Ellis made the twelfth. He got an appeal on his case and has been lying in the Richmond Jail for one week, making really six years confinement when the original sentence was for only five. James Lowry, man-slaughter, 3 years; George White, malicious shooting, 1 year; Taylor Sanders, malicious cutting, 1 year. Colored. G. P. Callins for Mayor.

Mr. J. S. Callins has announced elsewhere in this issue as a candidate for Mayor of Richmond, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Mr. Callins is too well known as a good citizen and excellent business man for comment here. He would make a good Mayor.

Court Day.

Auctioneer Z. E. Bush reports: Fair crowd in town. Daily lot 100 head of common cattle on the market, about 75 disposed of at 25 and 3 cents. A few plug horses changed hands, prices ranging from $7 to $85. A few good horses sold at $135 to $175. Broke mules brought from $85 to $140. One bull calf sold for $25.

Hourly Basis.

Reports from the headquarters of Hourly, 2191, and Sule S. 220, are to the effect that both of these flying fillets have wintered well and promise this summer to have a renewal of their famous duel at St. Louis last fall. Although Sule S. is yet to be beaten, the owner of Hourly says that filly will clip her wings this summer, while on the other hand, Sule S. owner says he fears no rival and believes his filly will this year wipe out all 4-year-old records—Kentucky Stock Farm.

Shuff and the President.

A gentleman who was in Jacksonville, Florida, where President Cleveland and wife were there, the other day, tells us that John Shuff—the infatigable old boy who used to clerk at the Garrett House in Richmond—got out a flaming carriage with six white horses and took the President on a swell drive around town. Mr. Cleveland remarked as he alighted from the carriage, "John, you can be Consul to Saint Nezar or Miraflores whenever you want anything from me."

For Congress.

The Danville Advocate says: Gen Green (John Smith) was in town last week attending the Prohibition County Convention. The General has up to date received the instructions from a number of county conventions to be the Prohibition candidate for Congress. A remarkable feat, as the Advocate said, unless it be in one of the best Madison counties has last for years. President, C. D. Chennault, Vice President, C. W. Evans, H. B. Dillingham, C. F. Burman, R. B. Terrell and Wm. Dwyer. Directors, W. R. Letcher, Wm. Arnold, W. H. Harter, B. E. Tevis, M. F. Archibald, J. Stone, Wm. H. Stone, J. B. Parks and J. W. Embury. Secretary, J. P. Hendon, Treasurer, J. E. Greenleaf.

Pat's Profit.

The CLIMAX announced the other day that Pat Cunningham had been indicted by a grand jury of Judge J. McCord, this county. Joe Mullattian came along, and, seeing the man enlarged and improved upon it, and sent it to the associated press which transmitted it to all parts of the country. Among other remote regions that it penetrated was Iowa, and now comes a letter from the administrator of Joe Cunningham, who died without wife or children. The administrator had been searching for Pat for some months, and this minkie story revealed him. Pat is asked to come out and claim an estate of $3,000 of rich soil.

Grand Jury.

The Grand Jury adjourned on Friday afternoon after a nine days session and the evil doers who have escaped their clutches are basking once more in the sunshine of freedom and merriment. The boys about town have ceased to turn around corners and into alleys suddenly, and their hearts have ceased to crawl up into their throats when they meet a Deputy Sheriff, knowing they have no summons. After questioning many innocents and sinners 55 indictments were filed in three reports to the court. Among them were 6 cases of grand larceny, 7 for concealed weapons, 2 for horse breaking, 1 for maliciously tipping liquor to minors for profit larceny and 3 for grand larceny.

Mixed in Gender, if Not More.

The Standard Interior Journal says: A fellow calling himself F. J. Westbrooke and claiming Stanford as his home, has been working the citizens of Kirkville for insurance. He represents that he is agent for the U. S. Mutual Accident Association and requires that each person who takes out a policy shall pay $5 down. No such man lives here and Westbrooke is evidently a fraud whom the people should shun.

Such a person calling himself by that name has been soliciting for two insurance companies at Kirkville, and contradicting letters have been received about him from Grant and St. Louis, State Agents for the United States Mutual Accident Company, of New York. He is also representing himself as being a member of the Union, and his applications to that Company have been reported favorably. He is a man about 50 years old, with a good face and a manner that has lulled the Kirkville people with confidence.

Circuit Court.

Circuit Court adjourned Saturday after two weeks sitting which about cleared away the docket. The following cases were among the number continued to the September term: Commonwealth vs. Joe Manpho, Com. vs. Joe Wages, Com. vs. Ballard Brimston, Com. vs. Leslie & J. King, Com. vs. J. Hollingsworth. Sheriff Nathan Deatherage left yesterday with 12 prisoners for the penitentiary. Eleven were convicted this term of Court, and Bob Ellis made the twelfth. He got an appeal on his case and has been lying in the Richmond Jail for one week, making really six years confinement when the original sentence was for only five. James Lowry, man-slaughter, 3 years; George White, malicious shooting, 1 year; Taylor Sanders, malicious cutting, 1 year. Colored. G. P. Stone, grand larceny, 1 year; James Wright, money under false pretenses, 1 year; Wm. Palmer, grand larceny, 3 years; Wm. Tanner, 2 years; John Duggs, horse breaking, 3 years; Geo. Turner, rape, 10 years; Jack Fife, grand larceny, 3 years; Grant Ross, grand larceny, 3 years.

High Minded Men.

Down on Yates Creek, at Perkins, live William Smith, a worthy, sober, sensible, and personable fellow, who is a member of the members of the society after the style of the newspapers of to-day; 18th, Instrumental Solo—"Waltz of the Flowers," by Miss Mary Hub, was rendered with great expression. The President of the society, Miss Nannie Burgess, thanked the audience for their kindness and attention, and Elder Elliott dismissed them with prayer.

PERSONAL.

Mr. C. E. Smith is in Kansas City.

Mr. Hanna, of Shelbyville, is the guest of his sister, Mrs. Prof. Wm. Wilson.

Miss Morgan, of Lexington, who was visiting Miss Dora Hacker, has gone home.

Mrs. I. Shelby Irvine returned from an extended visit to her mother Mrs. Hood, of Lebanon.

Mr. W. P. Baxter, of Richmond, is spending a few days with relatives in the county—Anderson News.

Miss Nettie B. Lewis, of Red Lick, who has been visiting her cousins, Misses Bettie and Jennie Garrett, of this place, has returned home.

Mr. R. M. Dudley left Saturday for Harrison, New York, where he will continue his position with Rexford Bros. & Hart, railroad contractors.

Dr. Gibson, of Virginia, a recent graduate of Vanderbilt, was here last week, with a view of locating. He is related to the family of that name here.

Mr. J. A. Tevis returned from Cincinnati Wednesday, and says the whole metropolis is busy discussing the Cincinnati Centennial which will open July 4th.

Mr. Robert Dunn, formerly of this place, was in the city representing Burton, Price & Co., of New York, last week, but was taken sick and had to be carried home.

Col. J. F. Faulkner, of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company, here. He is one of the finest men in the State and the man who does not yield to his persuasive eloquence and take a policy must be obstinate—Stanford Interior Journal.

Mr. M. B. Arbuckle returned last week from a visit to Danville and Harrodsburg. At the latter place he visited the stables of Crit Davis and saw John, the great racer, record 2:06 1/4 and Prince Willis, trotter, record 2:16.

E. E. Greenleaf, of Richmond, was here on Sunday to see his mother, Mrs. Lucinda Greenleaf, who met with a serious accident on last Friday by falling and fracturing her left leg. She has suffered considerably, and is likely to be confined to her bed for some time.—Lancaster News.

Mr. "Phip" Winn, of Winchester, formerly Miss Fleming, who used to visit Miss City Walker, this place, is sojourning in California. She writes that Dr. M. M. Walker, of Virginia, who was surgeon on the Kentucky Central Railroad, during its construction through this place, is not there, has grown corpulent and is otherwise prosperous.

Mr. Wm. Crutcher, son of Elder S. W. Crutcher, and very well known here, he was with the drug firm of Stockton & Willis, last year, graduated at the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy recently. He was valedictorian of his class, and had labor won the Proctor and Alumni medals, both very handsome, and of gold. To the Nears medal which was a $40 pair of scales.

A Superb Catalogue.

THE CLIMAX has printed for Col. T. S. Mobley a catalogue of the Forest Grove herd of Shorthorns. In length with Forest Grove herd is the finest in Kentucky, and its proprietor, Col. Mobley, is a thorough short-horn man. THE CLIMAX did justice to the combination, and got up the most elaborate and complete catalogue ever produced in the county, and the only one with extended pedigrees. In fact, it never saw one among the numerous catalogues of Central Kentucky a finer one than this that has just been issued. It contains 138 pages 7 1/2 inches on superior book paper, and is bound in leatherette with gilt letters. The presswork is a model of neatness, and the style is second to none we have ever seen. It demonstrates conclusively that Mr. J. J. Atkins, the foreman of the CLIMAX office, is an accomplished printer.

The catalogue is an encyclopedia of Short-horn knowledge, and one that should be in the possession of every man at all interested in short-horns. At a glance, the exact blood and relations of the numerous animals can be traced. Col. Mobley spent months in the compilation of the work, and exhausted the American Short-horn Record, American Herd Book, the English Herd Book, and other standard authorities. He has gone back to the beginning of the short-horn family, and brought it all along down the line to the present time, making a genealogical work of it.

Philanthropic Entertainment.

The Chapel at Madison Female Institute witnessed a perfect joy on last Friday evening, and standing room was away above par, to hear the interesting program given by the young ladies of that institution. Central University was well represented and evidently their appreciation had settled in their feet as they made the room ring with their martial tread and outburst of enthusiasm. The young ladies were greeted with a burst of applause when the curtain was drawn back and the interest never wavered one moment during the whole evening, although the people were packed like sardines in the rear of the hall. The young ladies were remembered by their numerous friends, and baskets of flowers, fruits and candies in great profusion were placed at the performers feet by the young gentlemen ushers. When they had finished their duty, Messrs. Archie Campbell and Clarence Williamson officiated as ushers and took great pleasure in delivering "sweets to the sweet." The first on the program was Greeting, Glee Chorus, by the music class, which was greatly enjoyed; 2nd, Essay—"What Next?" by Miss Jennie Peland, was an essay showing much thought, and beautifully read; 3rd, Instrumental Solo, performed by Miss Irene Baxter, in a most creditable manner; 4th, Correspondence, Misses Laura Campbell and Laura Joe Wages, Com. ex. Ballard Brimston, Com. ex. Leslie & J. King, Com. ex. J. Hollingsworth. Sheriff Nathan Deatherage left yesterday with 12 prisoners for the penitentiary. Eleven were convicted this term of Court, and Bob Ellis made the twelfth. He got an appeal on his case and has been lying in the Richmond Jail for one week, making really six years confinement when the original sentence was for only five. willie Smith, was the crowning effort, of pathos, poetry, wit, and satire, never, so good, so beautiful, and so personable, as the members of the society after the style of the newspapers of to-day; 18th, Instrumental Solo—"Waltz of the Flowers," by Miss Mary Hub, was rendered with great expression. The President of the society, Miss Nannie Burgess, thanked the audience for their kindness and attention, and Elder Elliott dismissed them with prayer.

GARDEN CITY KANSAS.

Doubtless the readers of your paper would like to hear from the above point, which is situated on the North bank of the Arkansas River, 402 miles Southwest of Atchison, 419 miles from Kansas City, 57 miles east of the Colorado State line, and 216 miles from Pueblo. "Queen City" of the Southwest is the name which has been given to our young and prosperous city, and it deserves the lofty name, for only a few years ago where the town site now is, was the home of the buffalo, wild horse and antelope. Starting from a settlement of less than a dozen, ten years ago, it has become a city of the second class, and enjoying a certainty that in a few years it will be a great city. It has a population of 8000 inhabitants now. There can be no discount about this growing to be one of the most thriving cities in the Southwest, because it is surrounded by 13000 square miles of as good land as the globe can produce. The question of the Eastern people is invariably: What have you to make a big city? The question is very easily answered by any person who has been here long enough to form a sensible opinion. There are no stumps to be pulled, no clearings to be made, no rock to be blasted out of the way, and no swamps to contend with. The soil has been given a fair trial, and the production of corn, oats, wheat and rye, and all kinds of grasses, can not be surpassed in any country. Any city is dependent on the surrounding country for its success, and good farming countries always produce successful cities. Being over 200 miles from a competing point, and surrounded by a fine burning country, Garden City is bound to succeed and become a wholesale center. This city first started from two families who did much in aid in rearing the town to its present standing. The people of the Southwest are indebted to such men as Chas. J. Jones, John A. Stevens, W. D. Fulton, J. R. Holmes and others, for the interest they have manifested in helping to make this town and country a success. A few years ago Garden City was a small village, but by the aid of industrious and energetic men this has grown to be one of the most important places West of Kansas City. These bonifid benefactors are proud to see this place in such a flourishing condition, and the growth of this coming metropolis is indebted to them.

PAYMENT OF FORGED CHECKS.

The following opinion was delivered by Judge Barbour, of the Appellate Court, last week:

First. If a bank pays a forged check drawn upon it, to an innocent holder who has paid for the check, the bank can not afterwards recover the money of him. The drawee is bound to know the drawer's signature, and having admitted its genuineness by paying the check, is estopped to afterwards deny it to the detriment of an innocent third party.

Second. Even if the rule were otherwise, the bank could not recover in this case on account of its delay (four months) in making the discovery of the forgery. In such a case it is not necessary for the holder to show that he has been injured by the delay. The law presumes damage.

Third. A check drawn payable to a fictitious payee is, in the hands of a bona fide holder who acquired it in ignorance of the fact, in effect a check payable to bearer and may be so treated by the holder. Therefore where the bank, the drawee of such a check which has been forged, pays it to the innocent holder, it cannot recover the money of the latter upon the ground he had no title by reason of the fact that the indorsement of the payee's name on the check was forgery.

The foregoing decision was rendered in the case of the Deposit Bank of Georgetown vs. Second National Bank of Lexington. The checks referred to were those forged by John Wolf, son of County Clerk Wolf, who was sent to the penitentiary for his crime, and attempting to escape was shot by the guards and killed.—Lexington Press.

CONCERNING FARMERS.

Roi d'Or, a Kentucky horse, won the race at Memphis, Friday.

Pocahontas, the mare that Bonner paid $35,000 for many years ago, is alive, aged 29 years. It has never been possible to get her in foal in which Bonner has been very unfortunate, as a colt from her would be valuable indeed, as she is by Ethan Allen, dam of the famous pacing mare Pocahontas.

"Lucky" Baldwin's string of flyers en route to the spring meeting East, while on the road, the train met with two accidents, one at Yucca resulting in no damage, the other at a point west of Ash Fork, Ariz., where a draw-head was drawn and the cars containing the horses flew the track. Stewart Harold, in charge of the horses, states that several sustained injuries and sprains in the joints, but not sufficient to prevent them from being entered in the races. The finest of the stock—Vedante, Wonderland and Lilita—who are entered in the largest stakes, are all right.

The Farmers Bluegrass Seed Company of Kentucky has been organized with J. W. Prossitt, President; T. C. Robinson, Vice President, and R. Pen Taylor, Secretary and Treasurer. The Board of Directors is composed of S. D. Gill, T. C. Robinson, B. G. Prewitt, T. C. Vonneter, and E. J. Quisenberry. The capital stock is $10,000 divided into shares of $100 each, all of which has been taken and half of which has been paid in. Most of the stock is held in this county. The company has purchased of George M. Goosey about 3½ acres of land on the U. and O. road near the Lexington pike, for which they paid $1,500 cash. They will at once proceed to erect a warehouse, build a switch, etc. The edifice will be provided with the most approved machinery for cleaning blue-grass seed and will have a capacity of nearly 1,000 bushels per day. This will be the largest mill of the kind in the state and will control the trade of Central Kentucky.—Winchester Sun

In the burning of Senator Stanford's stables in California, last Wednesday, the following horses were lost: California Belle, four years-old, dam Charbel, by Abolitionist, 2:20; Rextord, three year-old, dam Rebecca, by Gen. Benton, 2:24; Maiden, three-years-old, dam Mary Queen, by Alexander's Norman, 2:23; Normaine, yearling, dam Normal, by Alexander's Norman, 2:31½; also the colts, Emma Robertson, Umbagog, Lowell and Howard. Two horses are yet alive, but they are badly burned. They are Palo Alto, dam Dame White, by Plant, 2:26½; and Marzanita, dam Mayflower, by St. Clair, fastest to date, 2:16. Clifton Belle, one of the horses that perished, was five years old, had a record of 2:24½, and was valued at $10,000. Rextord was five years old, had a record of 2:24, and was about the same value. Normaine, though only two years old, was considered worth $20,000. A year ago she made the fastest time on record for a yearling, 2:31. It is believed that Azmore and Hinda Rose were in part of the stable which burned. The latter had a three-year old record of 2:19, and $25,000 had been refused for her. She was seven years old.

The track at the Kentucky Association is in perfect condition, and the two hundred and thirty horses in training present a beautiful sight in their morning work. On account of the unprecedented number of horses in training who have not gone South, the Association has undertaken the construction of one hundred and twenty stalls additional. Half of these have been completed and the remainder will be finished the coming week. The immense stabling facilities of the city of Lexington and the new improvements will afford ample room for 400 horses, expected to assemble here on May 7, on which date the Association a magnificent programme consisting of four stake races, including the two great colt and filly trial races, embracing the best of Kentucky's youngsters. To these four stakes $3,700 are added. One hundred horses now at the Memphis meeting will arrive here after the meeting. Arrangements are being made to accommodate a tremendous attendance.—Lexington Drummer.

The eminent Specialist of the different Hospitals, N. Y. City, has his name and office at THE WILLIS HOUSE. The Doctor is a graduate of the leading Colleges and has been connected with 3 of the best Hospitals on the continent as his diplomas and certificates will show and has been Highly Honored by other Colleges and Universities as well.

His Reputation is International. He has practiced nearly a quarter of a century. He treats all diseases of the Eye and Ear, all Specific, Nervous, Chronic Diseases and Deformities of men and women. He never asks a patient his disease, but by a peculiar method reads and tells every disease, complication and symptom better than the patient can; and that without asking a question. It is TRULY ASTONISHING!

Even physicians wonder at it and take critical cases to him for a final decision. The great question with them is: How Does He Do It? The internal parts of a patient seem to be as clear and plain to him as the external, but just how he obtains such a marvelous knowledge of his patient's condition, no one seems to understand, or be able to describe. That he does it in every case, is no doubt. Some seem to think that the Doctor is gifted with supernatural power; that no ordinary man could give such remarkable descriptions of strangers as he does. Be that as it may, this curious feature of his practice alone, is bringing him thousands of grateful patients; many of whom declare that his wonderful diagnostic skill and power in performing cures is Positively Miraculous.

The most skeptical are convinced and astonished.

Sufferers from Nervous Debility and Blood Diseases in complaints of either sex, requiring Special Treatment, cured in a few days or weeks, without interfering with their work.

HUNDREDS OF MEN

are afflicted with Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhea, and Impedency, brought on by various causes, such as venereal excesses and diseases, occupations requiring a straining and fatiguing position, and especially the unnatural abuses of the sexual functions, the solitary habit so often indulged in youth without knowing the terrible results.

Young man, Stop! Look this matter square in the face; think, consider what you are doing. Waste no time and money with ignorant or unskilled pretenders, who trifle with you month after month, treating symptoms only, with Bromide of Potassium compound, that not only overloads your blood, deadens your nerves, stupefies your mind and relieves nothing, but empties your pocket book. Such poisonous dragging

MAKES YOU WORSE.

We can prove by hundreds of cases on record that bromide medicines so often given for this, and for that ailment, seldom, if ever, cure this, but almost always DESTROY MANHOOD and RUIN THE MIND. Bromide of Potassium and Germanium are the main remedies used. Given for seminal weakness, and to control symptoms while you take them. They never touch the cause or effect a cure. The unhappy victim goes on from bad to worse, reaching at last the most deplorable and horrible condition of humanity imaginable: A Lost Mind—a helpless idiot or raving maniac made so by the action of these poisons on the blood and brain, as well as by the disease. In fact, these remedies are worse even than the disease. Let Them Alone.

In all such cases we guarantee a speedy restoration to healthy, strong and vigorous manhood. Microscopical examinations of the urine made in all these cases. We make NO EXPERIMENTS and very few failures. We guarantee all curable cases.

Electric Medication and the NEW METHOD TREATMENT enables us to effect WONDERFUL CURES.

DISEASES OF WOMEN.

Every maid, wife and mother who has dragged an aching back and head through weary years; deserves our utmost sympathy and may depend on getting the most careful, skillful and successful medical treatment that can be given. Twenty years study and practice in diseases of women, both in Europe and America, has convinced me that eight out of ten American women suffer from some of the following complaints peculiar to the sex: Irregularity of the menses, too free too scant, or painful, leucorrhea (whites) vaginitis, metritis, endometritis, ulcerations, displacements, falling of the womb, anteversion retroversion, lateroversion, ante and retroflexions, producing constipation, or produced by it; uterine and ovarian tumors, fibroma and sarcoma cysts, cancers of the womb or its appendages, frequent or scanty urination, with burning, smarting or itching tenderness, soreness, bloating and backache, eruptions of the skin, pimples, blotches, brown spots, yellow spots, red spots, greasy, pasty, waxy, or chlorotic appearances, and discolorations of the skin, with blue or dark circles around the eyes.

Nature is true; she displays her signs and signals the approach of the grim enemy of life, disease. Look, sharply into your mirror: be not deceived, for these signs and symptoms mean weakness, nervousness, irritability, wakefulness, indigestion, headaches, forgetfulness, partial paralysis, sterility, melancholy, hysteria, wasting, consumption, catalepsy, St. Vitus dance, fits, derangements, insanity and suicide. Many ladies, especially young ladies, are so timid and excessively modest that they hesitate and put off calling on a physician until they are fast dying. Mothers should learn more of their daughter's ailments, banish from their minds a dread of examination, for ladies do not have to tell their complaints to DR. STEWART, no unpleasant questions are asked; no objectionable examinations are made; no painful local treatments are given. In most cases ladies can use our local remedies themselves where it is needed.

Chronic Vaginal Leucorrhoea

Is one of the most common diseases to which females are obnoxious, few escaping an attack of it at some period of their lives. Thousands of women let the disease run from year to year rather than submit to treatment from a doctor, and the disease is developed into ulceration of the uterus, which is much harder to cure. In the chronic form of the disease, the patient experiences a colorless or whitish discharge from the vagina, varying in quantity, and of a bland character, generally having an acid reaction. I have seen it of a brownish color and acid exoriated the edges of the vulva. If the discharge is very profuse, considerable weakness is induced, with great weariness after exertion. Aching in the back and loins, and after the discharge has continued long, dyspeptic symptoms appear, nervousness, lassitude and palpitation of the heart.

Uterine Leucorrhoea,

Or Whites, is a term applied to designate the Uterine from Vaginal Leucorrhoea, and is the result of morbid action of the lining membrane of the Uterus and Vagina, both combined. That either of these portions may be thus affected we should naturally expect from the anatomical fact that the membrane lining of both cavities is continuous, and in all cases of vaginal leucorrhoea of long standing, the uterus becomes more or less involved with ulceration of the neck of the uterus. All the symptoms of vaginal leucorrhoea are seen in the uterine variety, the nervous symptoms are increased, hysteria in all its forms is produced by this disease, inability to sleep, a sense of heat and weight in the pelvis. The hypogastrium becomes tense and sensible to the touch. The womb seems to press down on the perineum. The patient experiences dragging about the loins, extending to groins, hip, sacrum and thighs. There is a frequent desire to pass water. Standing and moving are very painful. This state is frequently accompanied by a nausea, lassitude and "moulture" sometimes by pains in the joints.

For weak and feeble women and those who are not in a condition to rear a family "Doctor Stewart's WOMAN'S FRIEND" will prove a blessing indeed. Nearly three thousand ladies have called or sent for it and used it successfully. It is the greatest remedy known in Europe or America for "Female weakness" call now before it is too late. Extraordinary cases require extraordinary skill and experience.

Health and strength will make you happier and more independent than money, study your own interest delays are dangerous, the Doctor will give you an honest opinion of the curability of your disease, our terms will be made satisfactory to all.
